It was dedicated as the All Saints Church on 1st March, 1943 by Francis de Witt Batty, Bishop of Newcastle.

The first priest in charge was the Rev John Sherlock, who took up his duties on 1st February, 1947. The new All Saints Church (located on the top of the Hill at 287 The Entrance Road) was dedicated on 30th April, 1972.

The old church building was moved to a block of land in Tumbi Road, Tumbi Umbi which was owned by the Church of England. It was renamed St Christopher's. After the church at Tumbi Umbi was closed, the building was again moved to Brooke Ave, Bateau Bay where it formed the shell of the new St Christopher's Anglican Church, Bateau Bay.
